DESCRIPTION

This finca is a renovation project and at the same time a fantastic opportunity. The farmhouse is located in a clearing, in the middle of the countryside in the center of the island. Towards the south and west you can enjoy impressive views. It is an authentic stone house, typical of the turn of the century. To the north of the property there are terraces where oranges and lemons and other fruit trees thrive in fertile red soil. In addition, fig and carob trees and even some holm oaks grow on the property. On clear days, as well as at night, you can see Formentera in the distance. From the master bedroom upstairs, you can see the shimmering lights of Dalt Vila in the distance - a breathtaking view. This colonial-style finca, more commonly found in old town centers, has a privileged location. Santa Gertrudis and San Rafael are only five minutes away. It is also a short walk to the International School of the island. The location is perfect for those who prefer the peaceful and quiet country life, but at the same time want to live near the important places and spectacular beaches.
